

To: Norton Telegram Sheridan Sentinel
Lenora Meridian Oberlin Herald
KQNK
Prairie Dog Press

From: Keith P. VanSike, Twin Creeks Extension District
Agriculture and Natural Resources Agent

For Immediate Release week of 1-7-19

The Kansas Soybean Commissioners along with K-State Research and Extension is hosting several locations for 2019 Soybean Schools. January 25th will be hosted by the Twin Creeks Extension Service in Hoxie at the Sheridan County 4-H building. A pre-registration is preferred by January 18th. Programs will run from 8:30-12:30pm with a lunch provided. Topics will cover weed management, insect pest control, irrigation update, commodity marketing, and topics in general soybean production management, and soil fertility.

There is no cost but we need a pre-registration count for the meal. Register by January 18th on-line at <http://bit.ly/ksusoybean> or phone Sheridan County Extension office at 785-675-3268 or simply e-mail Keith VanSike at kvan@ksu.edu. The other schools out in Western Kansas will be held both on January 24th in:

Hugoton: 8:30am – 12:30pm

Contact: Ron Honig at rhonig@ksu.edu

Scott City: 3:00pm – 7:00pm

Contact: John Beckman at jbeckman@ksu.edu

Speakers include Ignacio Ciampitti KSU Crop Specialist, Lucas Haag NW Research Extension Agronomist, Dan O'Brien NW Extension Grain Marketing, Dallas Peterson KSU Weed Specialist, and Sarah Zuckoff Insect Pest Management.